Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1,2,3,6,15,16,17,18,21,22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Combs et al '861.

Combs is considered to render obvious all of the subject matter of the above claims. Combs teaches a device which can sense transthoracic impedance of a patient, as well as breathing rate, in order to give an indication to, and control a, implanted pacemaker. See column 5, lines 39-45, column 12, lines 1-16, column 13, lines 59-65 especially. The term 'initiate/adjust' is considered to be broad enough to encompass any change to the operation of an implanted pacemaker. Further, the terms 'resynchronization therapy' and 'cardiac contractility' are similarly broad enough to 'read on' a pacemaker which makes any type of change in operation, as is contemplated by the invention of Combs.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 4,5,7,8-14,19,20,23-29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
